

Summary of the audit report on formation and effective and assigned use of money in the Forest Preservation and Reproduction Fund

The existing potential has not been fully utilized in the formation of proceeds in the Forest Preservation and Reproduction Fund. The prices of timber sold in our country need to be brought into conformity with the market prices. Some of the proceeds in the fund were spent on financing activities with less priority along with more important actions. It was recommended that the money of the fund be used to fund activities specified in the National Program on Forest Rehabilitation and Expansion and spent in a more effective and assigned manner.
