

Summary of Audit Report - 2002

Project for protecting agricultural land from disasters

Regarding a project for protecting agricultural land from disasters, an irrigation pond did not reach the required level of safety. The construction was not in accordance with the design: since the old bottom tub in the irrigation pond was not removed, water might have leaked through the tub, and the bank might have collapsed.

(1 case; 8.36 million yen)